Headshots & Portraits

Portraiture is ultimately about people — how they carry themselves, how they connect, and how they want to be seen. Whether you need a professional headshot, personal portraits, or a family photo update, we approach each session with a balance of direction and spontaneity. Thoughtful composition, flattering light, and genuine expression come together to create images that feel polished without losing the person behind them.

Weddings, Engagements & Elopements

Weddings, engagements & elopements are a collection of once-in-a-lifetime moments. While there will always be photographs that are planned, some of the most meaningful images happen between them — a glance across the room, a laugh shared with a friend, a parent trying not to cry, or the brief pause before everything begins. We approach weddings with an emphasis on those people and emotions, while bringing the technical expertise needed to capture them beautifully.

Every couple has a different story, and we believe their photographs should reflect that. Our role is to give you enough direction when it matters while leaving plenty of room for the day to unfold naturally. The finished collection should feel cohesive and timeless, but most importantly, it should bring you back to the people, feelings, and moments that made your wedding yours.

Sports & Tournaments

Sports are about more than scores—they're about the grit, focus, and emotion that fuel every performance. We look for the moments that define the story: the quiet focus before the start, the determination in motion, and the triumph (or heartbreak) at the finish.

These photos become proof of the effort, passion, and journey that go into every competition. Whether it's for yourself, your team, or your event, we want to capture the spirit of sport in a way that feels true. Let's make sure your hard work and story don't go unseen.

Events

Every event has its own rhythm, and our approach is built around finding it. From the first arrivals to the final moments of the evening, we photograph the people, interactions, atmosphere, and details that give an event its character. We work unobtrusively wherever possible, allowing genuine moments to unfold rather than constantly directing them.

The result is a collection of images that does more than document what happened. It gives you a visual record of the experience — the people who were there, the moments they shared, and the atmosphere that can be difficult to describe once the night is over. Whether it is a corporate gathering, celebration, fundraiser, or private event, we aim to make the photographs feel as alive as the event itself.

Landscapes

Landscape photography is where it all started for me. Coming from a background in landscape design, I've always been interested in how people experience a place — its scale, atmosphere, history, and the way nature changes it over time.

Photography became a way for me to step into those spaces and try to capture what makes them worth experiencing. In many ways, it is the same storytelling approach I bring to photographing people: looking beyond what is immediately visible and trying to understand what makes a moment or place meaningful.
